APRIL 3 - 6, 1991, WASHINGTON, D.C.

N A S P A

THE 73RD ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF THE
NATIONAL ASSOCIATION
OF STUDENT PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATORS
APRIL 3-6, 1991 • WASHINGTON, D.C.

WELCOME TO NASPA AND CAPITAL REFLECTIONS!

The topics of nine major speakers and the wide selection of programs are designed to provide a quality professional experience, as we explore the issues and challenges of working with students in the 90's. The variety of formats offered in the program is intended to encourage involvement and interaction as well as reflection.

Washington, D.C., the conference program and our colleagues should provide an interesting, educational, and enjoyable experience.

Joan M. Claar

1991 Conference Chair

WELCOME TO WASHINGTON, D.C.!

Washington, D.C. in April and the NASPA conference are an unbeatable combination! The "Capital Reflections" theme offers us the opportunity to look at ourselves, our profession, and higher education from the perspective of past, present, and future.

I hope that you will take advantage of your days at the conference to renew acquaintances with friends and colleagues, to establish new friendships, and to learn from the speakers, presenters, and each other.

I look forward to seeing you.

Marsha Duncan

NASPA President

NASPA ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING

International Ballroom West, 3:30 pm Friday

Presiding:

Vice President for Student Affairs, Lehigh University; NASPA President

The NASPA Annual Business Meeting is open to all members, however, a quorum consists of a majority of the voting delegates registered at the National Conference. Designation of proxies for voting delegates must be received by the Executive Director no later than the official opening day of the conference, April 3, 1991.

Proxies shall be Voting Delegates or Professional Affiliates who may cast no more than one proxy vote each.

Any member of NASPA may present a resolution for action by the membership on any issue at the Annual Business Meeting. A resolution is an instrument expressing the opinion, will, and intention of the NASPA Voting Delegates. Endorsement of a resolution by the delegate body constitutes a directed call for Board of Directors consideration. The Board of Directors bears the responsibility to deliberate on approved resolutions and report their disposition to the delegate body.

The procedures for submitting resolutions are as follows:

1. A draft of a proposed resolution may be submitted in advance to the appropriate Regional Vice President or to the President-Elect prior to the opening date of the conference.
2. Resolution proposals may be submitted to the Board of Directors any time during the conference prior to the Annual Business Meeting.
3. Resolutions may be presented to the membership from the floor under "new business" during the Annual Business Meeting.

CAPITAL REFLECTIONS NEWSLETTER

Each day of the Conference, "Capital Reflections Update" will be published and distributed at various locations. Program changes, news updates and other important information will be offered. Submissions are due to the Conference headquarters in Bancroft by 5:00pm on Wednesday and Thursday.

RECEPTIONS

OPENING RECEPTION

6:00 - 7:00 pm Wednesday Crystal Ballroom and Exhibit Hall

Join your colleagues in the official opening for the 1991 Conference, an opportunity to come together and "reflect" on the major issues facing our profession and higher education. Dr. Robert Albright will lead us in these initial reflections at 4:30 pm. The opening will be followed by a reception with music, food, and great company.

VOLUNTEER RECEPTION

7:00 to 9:00 pm Wednesday International Ballroom - East

All volunteers are invited to enjoy recognition for providing time and talent to the conference.

AWARDS LUNCHEON

12:00 noon to 1:30 pm Friday International Ballroom - Center

This is a special opportunity for NASPA to pay tribute to those individuals who have distinguished themselves by virtue of their service to and their accomplishments in the student affairs profession, higher education, or NASPA. The awards to be presented and the 1991 recipients are listed in the back of the Program Book. A limited number of tickets to the Awards Luncheon may be purchased at Conference Registration on the Concourse Level.

PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION AND NETWORK FAIR

5:30 to 7:00 pm Thursday International Ballroom - East

NASPA'S President Marsha Duncan invites all conference participants to enjoy light jazz and light food during the Network Reception. This is a great opportunity to meet, mingle and make dinner plans while learning about NASPA Network activities. Of particular note is the celebration of the 20th Anniversary of the founding of the Women's Network.

ENTERTAINMENT

"THE CAPITOL STEPS" Comedy Show International Ballroom

9:00 to 10:30 pm Thursday

The "Capitol Steps" are Washington, D.C.'s premier political satire troupe. Featured on NBC and ABC evening news, Good Morning America, Nightline, The Washington Post, and The New York Times, the "Capitol Steps" have received rave reviews for their hilarious comedic assault on the Washington political community. Even George Bush has been quoted as saying "Golly, the Capitol Steps are really neat."

Don't miss one of the highlights of your visit to Washington. See you at the "Capitol Steps"!

"CLUB NASPA" International Ballroom-East

9:00 pm to 1:00 am Friday

A video DJ will highlight a night of dancing and exciting entertainment. Don't miss the "Disco is Dead" part of the evening featuring the songs you love to hate!!

"SCANDALS TOUR"

5:30pm Friday, April 5

While visiting Washington D.C. you won't want to miss the special "NASPA" Scandal Tour! This is an irreverent guided tour of the famous Washington sites that have made the nation's capitol the "scandal capitol of the world!" The 90 minute tour takes you through town to visit such scandalous places as: The Watergate Hotel, White House, Gary Hart's Townhouse, the Capitol steps, and other exciting places. The tour will be hosted by the hilarious comedy company Gross National Product, who impersonate and poke fun at some of Washington's finest.

AUDIO CASSETTES

Audio cassettes of major speeches and representative interest sessions will be available for sale in the NASPA registration area.

NO SMOKING POLICY

Smoking is not permitted in any of the conference program sessions.

PRE-CONFERENCE SESSIONS

Several outstanding pre-conference sessions are offered on Wednesday, April 3. These sessions are highlighted in the complete list of program offerings. For those who arrive in time to attend a pre-conference session, check with the registration area for information regarding space availability and registration.

EVENING PROGRAM SESSIONS

Four selected program sessions are being presented Wednesday evening from 7:30-8:45 PM. These sessions are provided as a service to conferees who desire a learning experience, but find their daytime schedules filled with other responsibilities. The sessions are each repeated at a later time during the conference. The program committee invites you to participate in one of the following evening "reflections":

SPECIAL PROGRAMS AND EVENTS FOR NEW PROFESSIONALS AND GRADUATE STUDENTS

34. NEWCOMERS ORIENTATION AND RECEPTION

Wednesday, 3:00 - 4:00 pm

Jefferson

Newcomers to the NASPA National Conference - new professionals and veterans - are invited to this very special kick-off event. Meet and socialize with other NASPA first-timers and discover more about the conference and NASPA. You will be joined by members of NASPA's national and regional leadership as well as other seasoned NASPA professionals at this special welcome.

4. DOCTORAL STUDENT COLLOQUIUM

"ACHIEVING INSTITUTIONAL DIVERSITY: IMPLICATIONS FOR RESEARCH AND PRACTICE"

Wednesday, 8:30 am - 4:00 pm

State

The Doctoral Student Colloquium brings together doctoral students and distinguished scholars to study a topic of importance. The coordinator of the Colloquium is Keith Miser, Colorado State University. Three perspectives on this year's topic, "Achieving Institutional Diversity: Implications for Research and Practice," will be offered as follows:

Research Perspective:	Reginald Wilson American Council on Education
Environmental-Ethical Perspective:	James Banning Colorado State University
Legal Perspective:	Annette Gibbs University of Virginia

MASTERS GRADUATE CASE STUDY COMPETITION

32. ORIENTATION MEETING:

Wednesday, 1:30 - 2:30 pm

Independence

57. CASE PRESENTATIONS:

Thursday, 8:00 am - 5:00 pm

Independence

NASPA's traditional case study competition provides a provocative challenge for graduate students enrolled in masters degree programs in higher education and student affairs. Each graduate program may be represented by one team of two masters degree students who will present their analysis of a case study prepared by NASPA student affairs professionals. The teams will receive the case at the Orientation Meeting on Wednesday and will be assigned 30-minute presentation times scheduled for Thursday. A panel of judges will reflect on the teams' efforts to translate theory into practice. Paula Rooney of Babson College is coordinating the Masters Graduate Case Study Competition.

The 1991 Masters Graduate Case Study Competition has been supported by a grant from the National Panhellenic Conference.

153. MENTOR DINNER

Thursday, 7:00 pm

Independence

(Mentors and Mentees will depart in groups to nearby restaurants.)

The NASPA Program Committee and the New Professionals Network have arranged an evening featuring a selected group of our profession's mentors hosting small groups of new professionals for dinner at moderately priced area restaurants. For the price of a meal, new professional conferees (three or fewer years in the field) may take advantage of this outstanding opportunity to discuss issues and concerns with one of these mentors. This event has received high praise from previous participants, including past mentors.

Participant sign-up will begin at the Newcomers Orientation and Reception (Wednesday, 3:00 - 4:00 pm in the Jefferson room). Afterwards, signups will be available in the Conference Hospitality (Adams) Room. Mentors' pictures and biographies will be available for review. All new professionals are encouraged to enjoy this evening filled with good food and stimulating conversation. Space is limited, so sign up early! The Mentor Dinner is Coordinated by Linda Windle of Texas A&M University and Kathleen Yorkis of Bentley College.

University

Coordinating Presenter:

William M. McDonald

Carson-Newman College

Presenter:

Ronald J. Kovach

Rhodes College

Group departure will be at 7:40 am from the Main Lobby of the Washington Hilton Hotel. This workshop will provide the experience of imagining the future residential campus while providing a framework that can be utilized on campuses today. Interdependence, commitment, and consensus processes, which are components of a successful community will be discussed. Through computer simulation, workshop participants will develop their "visions" and come to better understand the difficult dynamics inherent in the development of a community. Participants will be on their own for lunch.

- 13 Making the Commuter Connection
(pre-conference session)
Wednesday 8:30 am-3:30 pm University of Maryland at College
Park

Coordinating Presenter:

University of Maryland at College Park

Presenters:

Barbara Jacoby

University of Maryland at College Park

Martha Baer Wilmes

University of Maryland at College Park

Jennifer Shimer Piper

University of Maryland at College Park

Angela Scott

University of Maryland at College Park

Group will depart at 8:30 am from the Lower Lobby entrance of the Washington Hilton Hotel. Advance registration is required. Workshop participants will visit the National Clearinghouse for Commuter Programs (NCCP) and a model commuter affairs office at the University of Maryland at College Park. This pre-conference workshop will provide practical information, examples of innovative programs and services, an introduction to the resources of NCCP, and the latest developments affecting professionals who work with commuter students. Participants will have the opportunity to exchange materials and ideas. Participants will be on their own for lunch and will be returned to the Washington Hilton by 3:30 pm.

- 14 Spiritual Development Theory and Practice: Emerging
Models and Research (pre-conference session)
Wednesday 9:00 am-12:00 pm Dupont

Coordinating Presenter:

Alan Cureton

Sterling College

Presenters:

Larry Ebbers

Iowa State University

John Bolen

Iowa State University

Researchers have recently identified the need for educators to address the spiritual development of students. This workshop will describe the emerging theories of spiritual development, identify examples of campus programs addressing spiritual development, and discuss and predict future research arenas within the realm of spiritual development theory. Time will be allotted for open discussion and questions with the presenters.

- 15 Student Activism and Free Speech: Are They on a Collision Course? (pre-conference session)
Wednesday 9:00 am-12:00 pm Edison

Coordinating Presenter:

Patrick Brown

University of Vermont

Presenter:

Narbeth Emmanuel

Ferris State University

There has been a resurgence of student activism on college and university campuses. The issues on the activists' palette include gay rights, ROTC, animal rights, tuition costs, divestment, sexism, anti-semitism and racism. At the same time many campuses are responding to a rash of hate crimes that extend from verbal harassment to campus graffiti to discriminatory programs or activities to actual assaults. The response to a growing number of these incidents has been to enact codes and policies prohibiting certain types of racist, sexist, homophobic and other derogatory speech. This workshop will explore First Amendment rights, the developing activist agenda and the significant actions addressing "unwanted" free speech.

Wednesday

16 Early Alert, Early Intervention - Keys to Retention Management (pre-conference session)

Wednesday 9:00 am-12:00 pm Caucus

Coordinating Presenter:

Randi Levitz Noel/Levitz Centers

Presenters:

Patrice Noel Noel/Levitz Centers

Student success, and ultimately student retention, depends heavily on the ability of staff to connect students' needs with academic advising services on campus that can best meet those needs. This workshop will provide up-to-the-minute retention strategies. Participants will also learn how to use critical information on students to establish effective advising relations and intervene early with students. Additionally, participants will gain hands on experience with a powerful academic advising/retention tool.

17 Building Community Through Leadership (pre-conference session)

Wednesday 9:00 am-12:00 pm Conservatory

Coordinating Presenter:

Nance Lucas Ohio University

Presenters:

Kurt Keppeler Virginia Commonwealth University

Dennis Roberts Lynchburg College

Cynthia Cherry University of Southern California

Tim McMahon University of Iowa

The purpose of this session is to inform participants about the new perspectives of leader programming which emerged from the findings of the 1990 Leadership Symposium, to broaden the conceptual models and theories in leadership programs to be more gender and multiculturally inclusive, to encourage the consideration of community building as the ultimate purpose of leadership programming and to engage participants in refining these new perspectives. Participants will be engaged in translating these ideas for use on their own campuses.

18 Creating a Student Affairs Vision (pre-conference session)

Wednesday 9:00 am-12:00 pm Military

Coordinating Presenter:

Dennis Pruitt University of South Carolina

Presenters:

David Bell University of South Carolina

Paul Fidler University of South Carolina

Debbie Ritter University of South Carolina

Jim Doran University of South Carolina

Virtually every institution is under mandate from a governing board or coordinating agency to assess the quality of academic and student life programs. This program will provide the opportunity to view a strategic planning cycle which includes philosophical and budgeting components. Individuals will see a model demonstration of how a university unit, such as the Division of Student Affairs, can develop a philosophical mission, author a mission statement, and develop a strategic planning process. Implementation, assessment, and action activities will be shared.

19 Managing a Multicultural Environment (pre-conference session)

Wednesday 9:00 am-4:00 pm Map

Coordinating Presenter:

Barry L. Bem Howard University

Presenters:

Cecil Blake Howard University

Grace Ansah-Birikorang Howard University

Levai Gregory Howard University

Thomas Wessel Howard University

Nickole Scott Howard University

Marcia Stewart Howard University

Carmen Cannon Howard University

The United States is increasingly appreciating its multicultural make-up. This workshop will provide, through simulations and group discussions, insights, and materials, a basis for managing multicultural environments effectively within educational institutions. Information regarding the changing complexity of U.S. society and the need to increase intercultural communications competence on college and university campuses will be reviewed. The development of proposals for changes and strategies necessary for colleges and universities as they adjust to culturally diverse populations on their campuses will be included. The workshop model can be replicated for use elsewhere.

20 Marketing Student Services: A Process of Reflection (pre-conference session)

Wednesday 9:00 am-4:00 pm Cabinet

Coordinating Presenter:

Linda Clement University of Maryland at College Park

Presenter:

Teresa Flannery University of Maryland at College Park

Institutions that are successful at facing the enrollment challenges of the 1990s will be those who understand and effectively implement modern marketing strategies. This workshop will focus on the application of marketing concepts to the student services arena. Topics will include adopting a marketing strategy, market research and segmentation, promotional approaches, and ethical considerations.

Coordinating Presenter:

Molly Mayo Tampke

University of Illinois

Presenters:

James R. Reynolds

Texas A & M University

Thomas C. Schreck

Indiana University Foundation

Ed Hinson

Arthur Andersen Consulting

How are you going to fund those great new programs that your campus and students need? Have you thought about alumni or corporate support? This program will provide information for student affairs officers interested in organizing effective fundraising programs. The speakers will address building your case, identifying prospective donors, working within campus development structures, and establishing a development program on campus.

26 The Fraternity and the First Year Experience (pre-conference session)

Wednesday 1:00 pm-4:00 pm Edison

Coordinating Presenter:

Melody Hokanson

University of South Carolina

Presenters:

Mary Stuart Hunter

University of South Carolina

Warren Richey

Louisiana State University

Few topics are more complex or require more attention and thoughtful participation by student affairs professionals than the role and responsibilities of fraternities and sororities. Organizational structures, with appropriate guidance, can assist institutions with the assimilation of first year students into campus life and guiding the first year student toward institutionally desired outcomes. Emphasis will be given to factors contributing to first year student success, support structures and resources of Greek-letter organizations, and current issues on college campuses. This workshop will assist participants in assimilating this knowledge in order to facilitate and empower fraternities and sororities in guiding first year students toward institutional goals.

27 Supervising Residence Hall Staff (pre-conference session)

Wednesday 1:00 pm-4:00 pm Farragut

Coordinating Presenter:

David G. Butler

University of Delaware

Presenters:

Wanda Anderson

University of Delaware

Kathleen Kerr

University of Delaware

Supervision is a critical skill necessary to ensure the accomplishment of program goals. This presentation will offer a comprehensive approach to supervision and will identify and describe a series of tools which can be used in supervising others. Participants will receive a supervision manual designed for use in teaching others how to supervise.

28 Financial Aid for the Student Affairs Professional (pre-conference session)

Wednesday 1:00 pm-4:00 pm Dupont

Coordinating Presenter:

Larry H. Dietz

University of Missouri - Kansas City

Presenters:

Don A. Aripoli

University of Arizona

James R. Craig

Montana State University

Donald R. Ryan

San Jose State University

This program will be valuable for chief student affairs administrators and other student affairs staff. The key issues heightening the need to address this information are that most students receive some type of financial aid, reauthorization of programs in 1991 will likely result in changes affecting large numbers of students, administrators have listed adequate financial issues as the top challenges facing institutions in the next five years, and financial aid plays a key role in meeting these challenges.

29 Diversity: Less Talk - More Action (pre-conference session)

Wednesday 1:00 pm-4:00 pm Conservatory

Coordinating Presenter:

Maura Cullen

Educational Consultant

Issues of diversity can be confusing and stressful for staff and students. A special focus of this program will challenge participants to think or rethink efforts with gay, lesbian and bisexual populations. This session is designed to deal with these issues in a practical way so that desired changes may occur on our campuses. These concepts will be explored through the use of slide presentations, music, videos and group exercises.

30 "Six Easy Pieces": A Primer for the Profession (pre-conference session)

Wednesday 1:00 pm-4:00 pm Caucus

Coordinating Presenter:

Carney Strange

Bowling Green State University

Presenters:

James Rhatigan

The Wichita State University

George Kuh

Indiana University

Elizabeth Whitt

Iowa State University

Holley Belch

This session also presented Thursday at 1:30 pm
Wednesday 7:30 pm-8:45 pm Dupont

Coordinating Presenter:

Michael Ellis University of Maryland at College Park
Presenter:

Martha Baer Wilmes University of Maryland at College Park
 Current strategies for student leadership development must be modified and expanded if we are to effectively engage the more diverse student body of the 1990s. Focusing on students who live off campus, this program presents a comprehensive framework for developing leadership programs that are responsive to the needs of a diverse student population. Examples of programs based on these principles will be provided.

41 Para-Professional Student Staff Selection, Training, and Supervision: A Developmental Model

This session also presented Saturday at 9:00 am

Wednesday 7:30 pm-8:45 pm State

Coordinating Presenter:

Pamela T. Horne

The University of Michigan

Presenter:

Barry D. MacDougall

The University of Michigan

The successful delivery of many student service programs, e.g., orientation, residence education, and peer counseling, is dependent on high-quality, front-line para-professional student staff selection and supervision models which insure confident, skilled, and informed staff. Beginning with the first stages of staff selection and continuing through group training, on-going individual goal setting, feedback, and supervision, the individual staff member's growth and development is the key to quality service delivery.

42 A Commitment to Cultural Diversity in Student Orientation

This session also presented Thursday at 3:00 pm

Wednesday 7:30 pm-8:45 pm Caucus

Coordinating Presenter:

Lori Reesor

University of Kansas

Presenters:

Sally Bryant

Kathryn Kretschmer

University of Kansas

Cultural diversity has become an important issue in higher education. This program will discuss how a large, predominantly white institution developed a videotape and diversity program that was presented to all incoming students and their parents or guests at summer orientation. The audience will actually participate in the program and view the videotape. Participants will also be encouraged to share their program ideas.

43 Student Affairs: A Catalyst for Integrating Campus Planning and Involvement

This session also presented Thursday at 9:00am

International Ballroom-center
Presiding: Dan Robinson
Iowa State University

Ernest Pascarella and Patrick Terenzini will present findings and insights from a forthcoming book How College Affects Students that synthesizes the last two decades of research on the impact of college. Emphasis will be placed on the implications for enhancing the educational impact of the undergraduate experience. This session has been supported by a grant from Nemschoff Chairs, Inc.

- 60 Followup With Robert Albright
Thursday 9:00 am-10:15 am Georgetown East
 An informal exchange with Dr. Albright as a followup to his opening address.
- 61 University-Greek Relations and Support (Invited Program Session)
Thursday 9:00 am-10:15 am Cabinet
Coordinating Presenter:
Stephen H. Petersen Central Missouri State University
 Historically, there has been good support for fraternities and sororities from Greek advisors. However, Chief Student Affairs Officers and Greek executives have not always agreed on priorities or appropriate levels of support. Yet, broader institutional support is essential if a strong partnership is to exist between Greek organizations and their hosting colleges/universities. While this session is open to all, it is designed primarily for Chief Student Affairs Officers and Greek system executives/presidents.
- 62 Ombudservices: An Institutional Approach to Solving Student Problems
Thursday 9:00 am-10:15 am Chevy Chase
Coordinating Presenter:
William F. Munson University of Houston
Presenters:
Roland Smith University of Houston
Michael Parks University of Houston
Thelma Douglass University of Houston
 Have you heard the one about the student who gets "the old campus run-around?" Who is responsible for helping students solve their problems with the university? This session will introduce participants to an institutional model which utilizes a network of designated problem solvers to address student concerns. A demonstration of the computerized ombudservice support program will also be presented.
- 63 Do We Want This Student Organization On Our Campus?
Thursday 9:00 am-10:15 am State
Coordinating Presenter:
Herbert (Butch) Griffin Indiana University
 This session covers legal and ethical implications when dealing with student organizations that will be requesting recognition on our campuses in the future. Starting with what has happened on our campuses in the past, discussion will then lead to future issues of student organization recognition by utilizing various case studies and identifying risk management techniques.

64 Experiences of Racial Harassment on Campus: Variations by Group Membership

Thursday 9:00 am-10:15 am Conservatory

Coordinating Presenter:

Gary Malaney University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Presenters:

Julie A. Lam University of Massachusetts at Amherst

John O'Connor University of Massachusetts at Amherst

A first step in establishing a multicultural campus where members of all groups are equally respected is the assessment of current campus climate as experienced by these group members. The results of a telephone survey of undergraduate members of six racial/ethnic groups at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst will provide baseline information on campus harassment levels.

65 Student Affairs: A Catalyst for Integrating Campus Planning and Involvement

This presentation will describe an approach to alcohol/drug prevention and policy development involving faculty, college personnel, students, and parents. By analyzing data from the 1990 Rutgers University Parent Survey the correlation between rules students live by at home and at school will be discussed. The role of faculty and college personnel will be reviewed in the design of an alcohol/drug policy.

76 Major Speaker - Paula Bagasao

Serving Students of Asian and Pacific American Backgrounds in the Context of Campus Multiculturalism

Thursday

10:30 am-11:45 am

Presiding: Larry Moneta University of Massachusetts - Amherst

Probably the least understood student populations are the numerous ethnic groups that comprise the "Asian and Pacific American" ethnic category. Myths abound. Amidst successes for certain students are dramatic unmet needs and increasing cries of campus racism and anti-Asian hostility. Allegations of admissions discrimination are not uncommon across our nations' campuses. What can student affairs professionals as educators do to get "behind and beyond the myths" about these students to ensure their full participation in campus.

This session has been supported by a grant from Seiler's Corporation.

77 Case Studies in Controversy: Institutional Values and Free Speech (Invited Program Session)

Thursday 10:30 am-11:45 am International East

Coordinating Presenter:

Jim Banning Colorado State University

Presenters:

Merrily Dunn Ohio State University

Carmen Jordan-Cox University of San Francisco

Rebecca Parker Ohio State University

All students of an Ohio State University residence hall floor were relocated due to escalating harassment of two gay residents of the floor. A pro-choice petition circulated by the Women's Law Student Association at the University of San Francisco, a Catholic university, prompted protest as well as support on campus and in the community. Much publicity was generated following developments on each campus. Case studies of each episode will be presented, and implications for practice will be discussed.

78 Campus Safety 1991: The Impact of the New Campus Security Act (Invited Program Session)

Presenter:

Robert McGrath Fairleigh Dickinson University
Current studies indicate that students are undereducated and underprepared for college. Comprehensive data analysis suggests that the best predictors of withdrawal after the first year are grade point average and lack of choice of major. Questions are raised as to which students should be supported through college and what programs and strategies enable positive adjustment.

87 The "Communiversities": Blending a Local Community College and University

Thursday 10:30 am-11:45 am Georgetown East

Coordinating Presenter:

George Young Broward Community College
Presenters:

Emanuel Newsome Florida Atlantic University
Stephen Miller Florida Atlantic University
The objective of this presentation is to create a seamless environment for students attending the local community college and university. This is being accomplished by the systematic blending of activities, resources, athletics, services, and personnel in a cohesive relationship eliminating waste and duplication.

88 Intercollegiate Leadership: A Cooperative Student Leadership Program

Thursday 10:30 am-11:45 am Georgetown West

Coordinating Presenter:

Robert McGonigle King's College
Presenters:

Sean Kelly Pennsylvania State University, Wilkes-Barre
Paul Adams Wilkes University
This presentation will expose participants to a multi-institutional student leadership program conducted by five colleges/universities and a local community non-profit organization. The presentations include; how the leadership program benefitted students, involved political and business leaders, and more effectively utilized the resources of institutions. The discussion will include how these sometimes competing institutions worked together in developing this experience for students.

89 Educating Tomorrow's Student Personnel Administrator

Thursday 10:30 am-11:45 am Jefferson West

Coordinating Presenter:

Gregory Blimling Appalachian State University
Presenters:

John Welty Indiana University of Pennsylvania
Robert Rodgers Ohio State University
Frances Pearson Ohio University
Jeffery Cinnamon Indiana University of Pennsylvania

This program examines the role of student personnel work and how preparatory programs should educate students for the practice of student personnel work (SPW) in the future. The issues to be considered in this presentation include the desirability of establishing a core curriculum for preparatory programs, the functions of SPW, the philosophy and purposes of SPW and the advantages and disadvantages of further specialization and certification.

90 Crisis Intervention Programs: Is Your Campus Prepared?

Thursday 10:30 am-11:45 am Lincoln East

Coordinating Presenter:

Beth H. Gansky Towson State University
Presenters:

Kenneth L. Thompson Towson State University
Dorothy Siegel Towson State University
Art Taguding Towson State University

This workshop will assist participants with developing, assessing, and evaluating their individual campus intervention programs when faced with a crisis situation. The presenters will share a proven and tested system used in responding to a crisis that occurred during their freshman orientation program. A review of the current status of legislation and statistics involving campus crime from the Center of the Study and Prevention of Campus Violence will be presented.

91 National Reports/Best Sellers on Higher Education: Student Affairs Implications

Thursday 10:30 am-11:45 am Monroe West

Dea Forney Western Illinois University

This session will focus on responses to the recent reports (e.g., Boyer) and best sellers (e.g., Bloom) which have critiqued the state of higher education. Results of a study of presidents, chief academic officers, and chief student affairs officers will be presented, and participants will be encouraged to share their own perspectives and experiences.

92 The Resurgence of Student Activism:
A Professional Challenge

Thursday 10:30 am-11:45 am Monroe East

Coordinating Presenter:

Keith M. Miser

Colorado State University

Presenter:

Patrick Brown

University of Vermont

Changing student interests and values, coupled with a developing agenda of political issues and social concerns, have created a climate that is fostering a new era of student activism. This presentation will reflect on the period of activism of the 1960s and focus on how student affairs professionals can identify and fulfill the roles of educator and professional in today's setting.

93 Responding to the 90s: Diversifying the Role of Student Affairs

Thursday 10:30 am-11:45 am Military

Coordinating Presenter:

Jim Case

American Graduate School
for International Management

Presenters:

Lee Svete

St. Lawrence University

Kathy Sims

The George Washington University

Our institutions will face a series of important challenges in the 1990s, as issues surrounding enrollment, retention, curriculum, outcomes assessment, fiscal accountability and population diversity become more immediate. This session will identify ways in which a student service program can respond to emerging institutional needs through activities which are quite distinct from our traditional direct service roles.

94 Ethical Management and Its Relationship to Fiscal and Administrative Responsibility

Thursday 10:30 am-11:45 am Hemisphere

Coordinating Presenter:

Carmen Buford

University of New Hampshire

Marianna R. Grimes

University of New Hampshire

The content of this program will consist of a presentation, including a case study, of the reorganization of the Division of Student Affairs at the University of New Hampshire by the central management team of the Division. This reorganization has enabled the Division to provide more qualitative, effective and efficient co-curricular learning experiences for undergraduates at the University during budget crisis.

95 Friends and Strangers: Increasing Student Contact Across Racial and Ethnic Differences

Thursday 10:30 am-11:45 am Thoroughbred

Coordinating Presenter:

Jon C. Dalton

Florida State University

This program will report the findings of research efforts to identify the most significant ways in which students of differing racial and ethnic groups interact, communicate, and establish friendships. The presentation emphasizes the importance of establishing positive peer relations as an essential part of campus efforts toward education for diversity.

96 Golden Key National Honor Society Luncheon

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:15 pm Region III Suite

97 Writing for the NASPA Journal: An Introduction for New Authors

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm State

Coordinating Presenter:

Barbara E. Bender

Rutgers University

Presenters:

Margaret Healy

University of North Carolina at Greensboro

Doug Woodard

Sue Spooner

University of Northern Colorado

This session is designed to acquaint those who are planning to submit manuscripts for publication in the NASPA Journal with the mission and function of the publication and to provide information to assist prospective authors with the preparation of their manuscripts. The importance of contributing to the professional literature for those working in student affairs will also be discussed.

98 Volunteers: Recruiting, Training, and Retaining

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Chevy Chase

Coordinating Presenter:

Marsha Guenzler

University of Maryland, College Park

Presenters:

Victoria Balenger

Deborah Gerrity

Susan Gerson

Eric Kobatsu

Marie Miville

University of Maryland, College Park

The information on student volunteers that will be presented comes from research conducted at the University of Maryland, College Park which examined the relationship between incentives and volunteer interest. Results provide information on a variety of characteristics of students who showed interest in volunteering, including compensation, motivation, and leadership roles.

99 Investigative Study: Needs and Perceptions of Minority Nontraditional Students

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Dupont

Coordinating Presenter:

Belinda L. Wjys

University of Louisville

Presenter:

Linda Wilson

University of Louisville

Minority nontraditional student issues have not been addressed in research in higher education. An interview survey was conducted and a subsequent needs survey was developed at a large urban/commuter institution. The results indicate that there is a difference between nontraditional and minority nontraditional students. Results and recommendations will be presented and discussion opportunities will be offered.

100 Graduate Preparation Course in Student Personnel

Administration: Relevance, Diversity, Reflection

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Farragut

Coordinating Presenter:

Darla J. Twale

Auburn University

Addressing the changing needs of student populations and meeting the demands of the future calls for an interactive teaching approach that meshes theory and research with practicality and relevance. Such an approach should address environmental press, student socialization, and problem solving through the diverse techniques of field-based exercises, speaker-practitioners, simulations, role play, case study, computer application, personal reflection, critique, and discussion.

101 Bulgarian Student Activism

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Edison

Coordinating Presenter:

Arthur L. Casebeer

Southern Illinois University

A taped interview with students and faculty from the University of Sofia will be shown. Students and faculty discuss the dynamics of their strike which helped topple the communist government. Discussion with the presenter, who spent a month in Bulgaria prior to the spring elections, will follow.

102 Commuters in Residence:

A Contradictory Congruence

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Grant

Coordinating Presenter:

Robert M. Nicholson

University of Wisconsin - Stevens Point

Presenter:

Peter J. Armstrong

University of Wisconsin - Stevens Point

This program will explore how a commuter room rental program in residence halls addresses the nature of the developmental needs and desires of the traditional age, commuter student population at a moderate-sized, small-town state university with an established residential program. The commuter room rental program is educationally sound, responsive to the "market," financially productive, and functions within the current operational resources, structures and programs.

103 Sexual Harassment Education: A Model Peer Program

Thursday 12:00 pm - 1:00 pm Conservatory

Coordinating Presenter:

Sarah B. Westfall

Carleton College

Presenters:

Bruce W. Colwell

Carleton College

This session focuses on the sexual harassment education program at Carleton College. A three-part education program was developed, primarily by students, for use by RAs with their residents. The content of each of the three sessions, as well as the process of using student input and designing sessions that are facilitated by RAs will be discussed.

104 Using the SPPV for Establishing Measurable Goals for Accrediting Purposes

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Caucus

Coordinating Presenter:

Robert D. Bradshaw

Austin College

Presenter:

William Seymour

Austin College

This program will give participants an opportunity to examine the use of the 50th anniversary statement of the Student Personnel Point of View as a basis for developing measurable educational goals and objectives which satisfy both the purposes of student affairs and the requirements of accrediting agencies. Sharing of ideas by participants is required.

105 Enhanced Cultural Diversity:

A Model for Institutional Change

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Map

Coordinating Presenter:

Suzanne E. Gordon

University of Arkansas

Creating a climate of understanding requires planning and development of strategies to change what is, on many campuses, an inhospitable environment. Our purpose is to present an institutional model which supports cultural diversity. This model will be drawn from the efforts of five institutions. A framework upon which institutions may build their own programs to enhance cultural diversity and create a climate of understanding will also be provided.

106 Higher Education's Response to the Drug Free Amendments

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Georgetown East

Coordinating Presenter:

Donald Gebring

University of Louisville

Presenters:

Ronald A. Key

University of Louisville

Vicki Guthrie

University of Louisville

David Parrott

University of Louisville

Christy Geraci

University of Louisville

How is higher education responding to the requirements of the 1989 Amendments to the Drug Free Schools Act? Results from a nationwide survey will be presented, ideas and resources shared, and discussion will center on the perceived effectiveness of the law. Recommendations for student affairs administrators regarding policy formulation will be given.

107 Today's Unsung Heroes: Students Committed to Community Service

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Georgetown West

Coordinating Presenter:

Karen S. Stewart

James Madison University

Presenter:

Susan A. Wescott

James Madison University

Bowl-a-thons, marathons, soup kitchens, and highway clean-ups — just a few of the activities James Madison University students have been involved in this year. JMU's four residential areas sponsor projects serving the Harrisonburg community in different ways from raising thousands of dollars for the hospital to providing meals and services for the less fortunate. This program will provide suggestions for large-scale service projects.

108 Combining Efforts: A New Approach to Leadership Programming for Credit

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Monroe West

Bill Haggard Florida State University

In this session a new approach to leadership programming for credit will be presented. The process for conceiving the idea will be discussed. The actors involved in the formation of this approach will present a description of a new leadership class which consists of a core curriculum component and several elective modules.

109 Diversity in Student Affairs Counselors — An Untapped Resource for the Classroom

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Monroe East

Coordinating Presenter:

Andrew McKenzie Sussex County Community College

Presenters:

Susan Rafter Sussex County Community College

Deborah McFadden Sussex County Community College

This presentation will discuss a program that utilizes counselors at Sussex County Community College not only in the Counseling Center, but in the classroom teaching the student's first course in his/her college career (The Freshman Seminar). Through varied contact with students, counselors can bring an aspect of their professional expertise that might otherwise go unrecognized, rewarding the students with valuable insight in pursuit of their goals.

110 Diversity: Advocacy and Integration

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Military

Coordinating Presenter:

Lynne M. Bejoian University of Southern California

Presenter:

Kathleen Bartle-Schulweis University of Southern California

One of the most difficult dilemmas facing student affairs professionals is how to meet the needs of students in "special" populations and still maintain an integrative student affairs model. The program will address the dichotomy resulting from the philosophical imperative that diversity is everyone's concern and the structural reality that needs are met in specialized offices. Individual and institutional strategies for effective and efficient implementation of support and/or change will be presented.

111 Classroom Environments: Avenues for Student Affairs - Academic Affairs Collaboration

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Hemisphere

Coordinating Presenter:

Roger B. Winston, Jr. The University of Georgia

Presenter:

Mary Beth Vabala The University of Georgia

Effective institutions have integrative and collaborative relationships between academic and student affairs. This program presents a new instrument — College Classroom Environment Scales (CCES) — that has been designed to measure six dimensions of classroom environments. Results from studies using the CCES will be presented; audience members will be invited to join in discussions of ways to collaborate with instructors to improve learning environments.

112 Improving Small College Student Services through Administrative Department Reviews

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Thoroughbred

Steve Markwood Marietta College

This program will focus on an innovative evaluation-management technique which provides for external institutional accountability in small college student affairs departments. Of specific interest to chief student affairs officers, this program will address the growing need for educational accountability through a proven on-campus consultant/evaluation model for the periodic review of student affairs programs, policies, personnel, and practices.

113 NASPA Past Presidents Luncheon

Thursday 12:00 pm-1:30 pm Suite 9101

114 Case Studies in Controversy: Racial and Ethnic Understanding (Invited Program Session)

Thursday 1:30 pm-2:45 pm International East

Coordinating Presenter:

Marylu McEwen University of Maryland, College Park

Presenters:

Art Sandeen University of Florida

Moses Turner Michigan State University

A conflict between an African American student and a white student in a Michigan State University residence hall escalated to a point of probable violence requiring a mediation intervention. At the University of Florida, the charter of the new White Student Union expressed concerns about reverse discrimination and opposition to affirmative action policies. Multicultural awareness and understanding continues to be an area of concern for campuses. Case studies of each episode will be presented, and implications for practice will be discussed.

115 Government Regulation of Higher Education: The New Wave (Invited Program Session)

Thursday 1:30 pm-2:45 pm Lincoln East

Sheldon E. Steinbach American Council on Education

The 1990s will probably witness significant growth in the scope and enforcement of federal regulation of higher education. The passage of the Americans with Disabilities Act and the implementation of the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act are only the beginning. Will your institution be prepared?

116 A Fraternity Prospers Without Pledging - ZBT's 18 Month Experience

Thursday 1:30 pm-2:45 pm Cabinet

Coordinating Presenter:

James E. Greer, Jr. Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity

Presenter:

Ronald J. Taylor Zeta Beta Tau Fraternity

The motivation, technique and theoretical background for ZBT's innovative change to a non-pledging system, implemented in the Fall of 1989, will be presented. The presenters will discuss topics such as: rush, retention, alumni support, academics, and undergraduate morale after an 18 month experience. The new Brotherhood program which replaces pledging will also be detailed.

117 Gender and Empowerment in Campus Environments: By Default or Design?

Thursday 1:30 pm-4:15 pm State

Coordinating Presenter:

Patricia C. Harwood

Westhampton College, University of Richmond

In coeducational institutions, the developmental and educational needs of female and male students have been homogenized for years. This session will focus on the need to avoid "gender-blindness." The advantages of intentional efforts to design empowering environments, particularly for women will be presented. Case studies, research, and existing programs will be shared to demonstrate the impact of campus culture on the development and achievement of women. The resulting impact on men's developmental and educational needs will be addressed.

118 Bigotry or National Security — The ROTC Question

Thursday 1:30 pm-4:15 pm Conservatory

Coordinating Presenter:

Robert (Bob) Gentry

University of California, Irvine

Presenters:

Edmund Peckham

California State University, Northridge

Chai Feldblum

American Civil Liberties Union

Demands that a Washington University graduate pay back his ROTC scholarship because he is gay have focused national attention on higher education's tacit support of the military's gay and lesbian ban. This program will examine the merits of the position that these individuals are "unsuited" for military service.

119 Caring and Sharing: What Happens When People are Too Helpful?

Thursday 1:30 pm-4:15 pm Caucus

Coordinating Presenter:

Kym C. Smythe

Widener University

Presenter:

Kathryn A. Scholl

University of Dayton

Caring, sharing, and other "positive" behaviors become damaging when taken to extremes. Co-dependency and dysfunctional behaviors are more prevalent than ever. Through discussion, lecture, and case studies this session will define and describe behaviors, review current literature and research, and strategize responses to co-dependency on campus. Learn more about co-dependency in your students and colleagues.

120 Redefining Student Leadership for the 1990s

This session also presented Wednesday at 7:30 pm.

Thursday 1:30 pm-2:45 pm Map

Coordinating Presenter:

Michael Ellis

University of Maryland at College Park

Presenter:

University of Maryland at College Park

Current strategies for student leadership development must be modified and expanded if we are to effectively engage the more diverse student body of the 1990s. Focusing on students who live off campus, this program presents a comprehensive framework for developing leadership programs that are responsive to the needs of a diverse student population. Examples of programs based on these principles will be provided.

121 Campus Child Care Challenge, Or Whose Kids Are These Anyway?

Sponsored by Adult/Commuter Network

Thursday 1:30 pm-2:45 pm Georgetown East

Coordinating Presenter:

Carmen Witt

University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee

Presenters:

Pamla Boulton

University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee

S. Lavernn Wilson

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville

Campus child care is essential for the attainment of age, gender, and ethnic diversity among students. Quality care, an imperative for university operated facilities, is costly and spurs demand. The challenges of funding, meeting service needs and maintaining quality will be addressed by presenters who themselves are long term center directors and leaders in the Coalition for Campus Child Care, Inc.

122 A Multi-Disciplinary Approach in the Dispensation of Sexual Assault Cases

Thursday 1:30 pm-4:15 pm Georgetown West

Coordinating Presenter:

J. Gregg Sanborn

University of New Hampshire

Presenters:

Eve Goodman

University of New Hampshire

Jane Stapleton

University of New Hampshire

This program involves the creation of a campus rape protocol for the dispensation of sexual assault cases on campus. It will involve real case scenarios and role playing/discussion format, addressing victim needs, community safety, legal liability, publicity, administrative and academic issues. Scenarios will include stranger, date/acquaintance, and gang rape cases.

123 Reported Cases & Incidents Involving Racial, Sexual, & Other Harassments

Thursday 1:30 pm-2:45 pm Jefferson West

Coordinating Presenter:

E. T. "Joe" Buchanan

Tidewater Community College Virginia Beach

A discussion, based on a 30-page handout of all judicial cases reported in 1990, and all incidents involving racial, sexual, & other harassment reported in the Chronicle of Higher Education.

124 Implementing the ACE's "New Agenda of Women for Higher Education"

Sponsored by Women in Student Affairs Network

Thursday 1:30 pm-2:45 pm Jefferson East

Coordinating Presenter:

Joan Apple Lemoine

Western Connecticut State University

Presenters:

Glenda A. Belote

Florida International University

Donna L. Shavlik

American Council on Education

Carmen G. Neuberger

Dickinson College

Cathy Burack

University of Missouri at St. Louis

The American Council on Education (ACE) has outlined a national agenda to address the future of women in the academy in the document The New Agenda of Women for Higher Education. In December 1989, the NASPA Board endorsed the ACE document. This program will present ideas for implementation at your institution, the role student affairs professionals can play, and the role women in higher education play in the implementation.

Thursday

125 The Culture of Student Affairs: A Study of Metaphors

Thursday 1:30 pm-2:45 pm Lincoln West

Coordinating Presenter:

Malcolm William Moss Virginia Polytechnic Institute
and State University

Presenters:

Don G. Creamer Virginia Polytechnic Institute
and State University

Tom Goodale Virginia Polytechnic Institute
and State University

The program will demonstrate the value of metaphorical analysis to reveal student affairs organizational culture. Results of a recent study will be reported in the context of emerging research paradigms and practical applications for student affairs practitioners. Specific applications to the enhancement of student involvement and campus community will be discussed.

126 Reflections on Freshman Interventions:

Past, Present, and Future

Thursday 1:30 pm-2:45 pm Monroe West

Coordinating Presenter:

Edward F. D. Spencer Virginia Polytechnic Institute
and State University

Presenters:

Norrine Bailey Spencer Virginia Polytechnic Institute

Noreen McGuire George Mason University

This program will review theories, findings, and implications for the future from three freshman intervention programs: 1) academic advising interventions, focusing on academic achievement, involvement, and developmental outcomes; 2) a residential program, fostering a sense of belonging, identity, satisfaction, and community among the participants; and 3) a success program for resident and commuter students, providing opportunities for academic support, development of student life, and community service.

127 A Critical Campus Need: Celebration of Diversity

Thursday 1:30 pm-2:45 pm Monroe East

Coordinating Presenter:

Dennis C. Golden University of Louisville

Presenters:

John Gilderbloom University of Louisville

Ralph Fitzpatrick University of Louisville

This program provides an institutional case study model of how to CELEBRATE DIVERSITY on a campus-wide basis. Over thirty events in one week promoted mutual respect, tolerance, and appreciation of diversity. A diversity awareness component for orientation and a review of the curriculum for multicultural inclusion added to the University of Louisville commitment.

128 Student Affairs:

Reflections on an Addictive Profession

Thursday 1:30 pm-2:45 pm Military

Coordinating Presenter:

Timothy R. McMahon The University of Iowa

Presenters:

Barbara A. Panzl Whitman College

Celine M. Hartwig The University of Iowa

Curt Kochner Eastern Montana College

The concept of addiction has been used to describe individuals, organizations, and society. Many of the processes contained within the umbrella of addiction are prevalent within the student affairs profession. This presentation will introduce the concept of addiction, explore its relationship to student affairs, and suggest strategies that might help the profession and its members become more fully functioning.

129 Mediation:

An Educational Response to Resolving Conflicts

Thursday 1:30 pm-2:45 pm Hemisphere

Coordinating Presenter:

Evelyn Campbell The Ohio State University

Presenter:

Merrily Dunn The Ohio State University

Due to an increase in the number of conflicts resulting in violence on college and university campuses and an increasing tendency toward hate-related behaviors, student personnel professionals must find new methods for resolving disputes between and among students. Mediation is a conflict resolution technique which can effectively resolve conflicts in a developmentally and educationally sound manner.

130 Costs and Benefits of Research in Student Affairs Divisions

Sponsored by Research and Program Development Division

Thursday 1:30 pm-2:45 pm Thoroughbred

Coordinating Presenter:

Karl J. Beeler University of Missouri - St. Louis

Presenters:

Elizabeth Griego Samuel Merritt College

Gary Malaney University of Massachusetts - Amherst

Linda Moxley University of Texas - Arlington

Research, evaluation, and assessment are on the rise in student affairs divisions, but capital outlays for these activities still require clear justification. In this presentation, experts on student affairs research will discuss specific components of the research agenda, costs and expertise needed to conduct various types of research, and documented benefits (including cost savings) that accrue to student affairs organizations.

131 Major Speaker - Bernice Sandler

The Chilly Climate for Women – Times That Try Men's Souls

Thursday 3:00 pm-4:15 pm
International Center

Presiding: Flo Hamrick Wichita State University
Joan Lemoine Western Connecticut State University

Many people believe that the problems for women have been solved. Yet all of us – men and women alike, whether colleagues, supervisors or students – often inadvertently treat men and women differently in ways that affect women's self-confidence, participation and leadership. We will examine some of these behaviors such as humor, devaluation, and confusion of social and professional roles. This Session has been supported by a grant from the National Interfraternity Conference.

132 Improving Race Relations Via Student Skits

Thursday 3:00 pm-4:15 pm Chevy Chase

Coordinating Presenter:

C. Robert Orndorff Shippensburg University of Pennsylvania

Presenters:

Diane Jefferson Shippensburg University of Pennsylvania

Information on planning and implementing skits involving African-American and Caucasian students to enhance race relations and appreciation of cultural differences will be presented. Skit content preparation, rehearsal procedures, presentation methods, and evaluation will be discussed. African-American and Caucasian students who participated in the skits will be available to interact with individuals attending this session.

133 Reflections on Paraprofessionals' Roles in Providing Cost-effective Student Services

Thursday 3:00 pm-4:15 pm Dupont

Coordinating Presenter:

Donald L. Sanz Appalachian State University

Presenters:

Maribeth Ehasz-Sanz Appalachian State University

Phil Whitner University of Toledo

Dan Abrahamowicz University of Toledo

Student affairs professionals face a continuous challenge to provide quality services and developmental programs with limited or shrinking resources to an increasingly diverse student body. A panel of student affairs professionals from academic advising, career development, student activities, judicial systems and athlete support programs will discuss paraprofessional services in higher education. Special attention will be devoted to cost-effectiveness, ethics, evaluation and effect on retention.

134 Speak Out: Black Professionals on Predominantly White College Campuses

Thursday 3:00 pm-4:15 pm Map

Cindy Long Porter University of Connecticut

Presenters:

Donna Nixon University of Connecticut

Chika Nnamani Illinois State University

Ken Saunders University of Michigan, Flint

Jody Allen Keitt Virginia Commonwealth University

As professionals at predominantly white institutions, Blacks often find themselves in challenging situations. Be it ethical decision making, finding social networks, dealing with racism among colleagues or having a supervisor who doesn't understand them; Blacks often feel isolated and unsupported. This panel of Black professionals will discuss their experiences and offer strategies for addressing these challenges.

135 A Commitment to Cultural Diversity in Student Orientation

This session also presented Wednesday at 7:30 pm

Thursday 3:00 pm-4:15 pm Hemisphere

Coordinating Presenter:

Lori Reesor University of Kansas

Presenters:

Sally Bryant University of Missouri - Kansas City

Kathryn Kretschmer University of Kansas

Cultural diversity has become an important issue in higher education. This program will discuss how a large, predominantly white institution developed a videotape and diversity program that was presented to all incoming students and their parents or guests at summer orientation. The audience will actually participate in the program and view the videotape. Participants will also be encouraged to share their program ideas.

136 Teaching Ethics with Chief Student Affairs Officers

Thursday 3:00 pm-4:15 pm Jefferson West

Coordinating Presenter:

Robert (Bob) Rodgers The Ohio State University

Presenter:

Scott Rickard University of Maryland, Baltimore County

This program will describe and experientially illustrate the creation of materials for teaching ethics to chief student affairs officers. Using the works of Rest, Kohlberg, Belenky, et al., and Bebeau as guidelines, the types and frequencies of the real ethical issues faced by chief student affairs officers at various kinds of institutions and regional areas will be presented along with illustrative teaching materials.

Thursday

137 Student Protest: Are You Prepared for Déjà Vu?

Thursday 3:00 pm-4:15 pm Jefferson East

Coordinating Presenter:

Barbara E. Bender

Rutgers University

Presenters:

Jack Creeden

Rutgers University

Michele J. LeMoal

Dowling College

Recent campus protests suggest that student demonstrations and disruptions will continue in the 1990s. This program will present: (a) the results of a study which examined recent campus protests; (b) issues to consider when dealing with demonstrations and disruptions; (c) models/approaches which institutions might adapt in responding to student protests in the 90s.

138 Things They Didn't Tell Me Before I Became a Chief

Thursday 3:00 pm-4:15 pm Lincoln West

Coordinating Presenter:

Rosalind Andreas

University of Vermont

Presenters:

Gregory Blimling

Appalachian State University

Larry Roper

St. John Fisher College

This panel presentation reviews first year experiences of three first time Chief Student Affairs Officers representing three different institutions: a liberal arts college, a comprehensive college, and a land-grant university. Similarities experienced, insights gained and mistakes made will be shared. Presenters will answer "what it was really like" becoming a CSAO.

139 Development and Fundraising for Student Affairs:

A Bright Horizon

Thursday 3:00 pm-4:15 pm Lincoln East

Coordinating Presenter:

Jim Hurst

University of Wyoming

Presenters:

Keith Miser

Colorado State University

Bud Thomas

Christine Wilkinson

Arizona State University

A small survey of chief student affairs officers revealed two themes. First, most indicated an interest in fundraising, but did not know how to get started or were discouraged by responses from Development Offices. Second, programs produced significant increases in resources for student support activities. Institutions involved in fundraising/development will provide an experiential account from which others may learn.

140 Thinking About Students: Methods for Capturing Student Experiences for Reflection

Thursday 3:00 pm-4:15 pm Monroe West

Coordinating Presenter:

Karl L. Schilling

Miami University

Understanding students' experience of the institution is the foundation for developing effective student programs. Quantitative and qualitative approaches can yield information which will allow a snapshot of student life on campus to be developed. A number of imaginative, cost-effective approaches with sample results and suggestions for sharing outcomes to influence decision-making on campus will be presented.

141 Reflecting on Moral Maturity and Gender

Thursday 3:00 pm-4:15 pm Monroe East

Coordinating Presenter:

Debora Liddell

Auburn University

Presenters:

Glennelle Halpin

Auburn University

Gerald Halpin

Auburn University

Moral development theories have focused on the ethics of justice and care, and have been associated with men and women, respectively. In this presentation we will examine those two ethics (through an instrument entitled the Measure of Moral Orientation) as necessary components of moral maturity, and will examine the results and implications of a study on gender differences and moral voice.

142 Complying with NCAA/NAIA/NJCAA Regulations: Implications for Student Affairs Administrators

Thursday 3:00 pm-4:15 pm Military

Coordinating Presenter:

David L. Meabon

Wichita State University

Presenter:

John H. Schub

Wichita State University

This workshop is designed to help student affairs administrators understand how the regulations of the NCAA apply to their areas of responsibility. Vignettes will be utilized to illustrate situations where NCAA regulations apply to student affairs practice. The workshop will conclude with principles for guiding student affairs staff in their decision-making concerning intercollegiate athletics.

143 Value Vision Voice Virtue: An Ethical Leadership Development Model

Thursday 3:00 pm-4:15 pm Georgetown East

Coordinating Presenter:

Bill Grace

Seattle University

Presenters:

Larry Ebbers

Iowa State University

There are many leadership programs emerging nationwide. Many programs would benefit by a reconsideration of the question: leadership development, for what purpose? This session presents an ethical philosophical framework that will allow participants to evaluate or design a leadership program on their campus from a values-based perspective.

144 Building and Maintaining Perspective: Bridging Between New and Seasoned Professionals

Thursday 3:00 pm-4:15 pm Thoroughbred

187 Major Speakers -

George Kuh, John Schuh, & Elizabeth Whitt

Lessons from Involving Colleges: Implications of the College Experiences Study

Friday 9:00 am-10:15 am

Presiding: Larry Ebbers Iowa State University

The speakers will present and discuss findings, conclusions, and implications of the College Experiences Study, a study of 14 colleges and universities that provide high quality out-of-class experiences for undergraduate students. After a brief description of the research methods used, the presentation will focus on the roles of institutional policies and practices, cultures, environments, and administrators and faculty in facilitating educationally purposeful out-of-class activities.

The breakout sessions following this presentation will offer an opportunity to discuss ways in which findings from the College Experiences Study can be useful for other colleges and universities. Each session will include descriptions by administrators from Involving Colleges of ways in which their institutional missions influence the work of student affairs. Participants may choose one of three sessions: Metropolitan Universities, Small Residential Colleges (under 5000 students), or Large Residential Universities (5000 or more students).

188 Fraternity/Sorority Assessment:

A Tool for Quality Control in the 90s

Friday 9:00 am-10:15 am State

Coordinating Presenter:

Teresa M. Loser

Rutgers University

Presenter:

George Jones

Livingston College, Rutgers University

The educational role of the undergraduate fraternity/sorority is being challenged as to its relevance to the host institution. The presenters will discuss a practical and specific evaluation tool which incorporates the input of faculty, staff and students across the campus in bringing about positive change to the system. Handouts will be available.

188A Women of Color in Administration:

The "Double Whammy" Revisited

Friday 9:00 am-10:15 am Thoroughbred

Sherril N. Coe-Perkins

State University of New York,

College at Old Westbury

The meaning of combined gender-racial membership is explored to address key issues affecting leadership among women of color. With special focus on the African American woman administrator, participants of all cultural groups and both sexes will be invited through experiential activities to share personal, professional and institutional factors influencing the success of women of color administrators.

189 Initiations: Sanctioned Rites of Passage Rituals

Increase Involvement and Belonging

Friday 9:00 am-11:45 am Chevy Chase

Coordinating Presenter:

Edward R. Butler

Emporia State University

Anthropologists have documented the importance of rites of passage rituals for marking the successful passage from one position in society to another. It is proposed that colleges and universities utilize this knowledge and establish sanctioned, rigorous, initiation rituals for new students to increase the students' involvement and sense of belonging in their collegiate community.

190 Silence v. Dignity: Focusing on Gay/Lesbian Concerns Within Work Against Bigotry

Sponsored by the Gay, Lesbian and Bisexual Concerns Network

Friday 9:00 am-11:45 am Conservatory

Presenters:

W. David Burns

Rutgers University

James D. Anderson

Rutgers University

Polly McLaughlin

Rutgers University - Newark

Cathy Charlton

Rutgers University

This special interest session will provide the opportunity for individuals working in university or college settings to improve the status of lesbian, gay and bisexual community members by focusing on what universities and colleges can do about the issue of discrimination and harassment on the basis of sexual orientation.

191 Developing an Institutional Response To Intolerant Behavior

Friday 9:00 am-10:15 am Caucus

Coordinating Presenter:

Robert C. DeWitt Pennsylvania State University, Beaver Campus

Presenters:

William W. Asbury

Pennsylvania State University

Patricia C. Peterson

Pennsylvania State University

Stan E. Latta

Pennsylvania State University

There has been an increase in intolerant behavior on college campuses. Incidents of racism, sexism, homophobia and others continue to plague institutions of higher learning. This program will discuss how a university can develop mechanisms that will enable it to react to unacceptable behavior. Other issues such as freedom of speech, parent involvement and actual programs designed to assist students to appreciate diversity will be discussed.

192 From Access to Acceptance: Higher Education's Responsibility Toward Students with Disabilities

Friday 9:00 am-11:45 am Map

Coordinating Presenter:

Kathleen McCarthy The University of Rhode Island

Presenter:

Barbara Roberts The University of Rhode Island

This session will discuss the myths, perceptions and bias that lead to the attitudinal barriers facing the college student with a disability. The discussion will focus on current issues, the development and effect of bias toward the student with a disability, national legislation, and positive steps which student affairs professionals can immediately take to establish an atmosphere of equity on the college campus.

193 Cultural Diversity Programming:

A Strategy for Success

Sponsored by the Network for Educational Equity and Ethnic Diversity

Friday 9:00 am-10:15 am Georgetown East

Coordinating Presenter:

Michele "Mitch" Kirsch Indiana University

Presenter:

Joseph A. Pica Indiana University

A multicultural society brings diversity, creativity, and energy, but also creates conflict and misunderstanding among diverse populations. This presentation will discuss one institution's response to the challenge of cultural diversity including the development of a Diversity Council, strategies for intervention and programming, and relationships with faculty and corporations that have resulted in successful diversity programs

194 Model for Campus-Based Rape Prevention Workshops

Friday 9:00 am-11:45 am Monroe West

Coordinating Presenter:

*Marybeth Roden Rape Treatment Center,
Santa Monica Hospital Medical Center*

Strategies for developing and implementing rape awareness/prevention programs, including curriculum development; staff selection and training; techniques for facilitating discussions between male and female students; development of prevention programs for college men and strategies for engaging them in discussions; presentation of "Campus Rape," a prevention film starring Susan Dey and Corbin Bernsen; managing post-program disclosures from victims; and program administration.

Friday 9:00 am-10:15 am Jefferson West

Coordinating Presenter:

Manny Neusome Florida Atlantic University

Presenters:

Roger Pulliam University of Wisconsin, Whitewater

Bruce LaVant University of Toledo

Stephen Miller Florida Atlantic University

The speakers will address multicultural strategies, programs, philosophies, and techniques implemented at predominantly white higher educational institutions. The campus community must achieve a greater appreciation for diversity as reflected in the present and future enrollment patterns. Our presentation will depict current student services, multicultural curriculum, informal interaction outside the classroom, staff development, and self esteem enhancement.

196 Strategic Planning for Small Colleges: A Student Affairs Perspective

Friday 9:00 am-10:15 am Jefferson East

Coordinating Presenter:

Carolyn J. Rants Morningside College

Presenter:

Sharon Dendurent Cornell College

This session is an opportunity for chief student affairs officers and those interested in planning issues at small colleges to discuss the planning process. Models for strategic planning will be presented. Two CSAOs will discuss their experiences with strategic planning. One college is in the beginning stages of implementing a new planning process while the other college has done strategic planning for ten years. Methods, problems, and results will be discussed.

197 A New Day for Honor Codes

Friday 9:00 am-10:15 am Lincoln West

Coordinating Presenter:

Gary Pavela University of Maryland

Presenter:

Ernie Ern University of Virginia

The University of Virginia has had an honor code for 150 years. The University of Maryland adopted a modified honor code in 1990. Other schools across the country are considering the honor code concept as a means to address academic dishonesty. What are the policy issues? Practical considerations? Risks and benefits?

Friday 10:30 am-11:45 am State

Coordinating Presenter:

Christine E. Phelps

The University of Arizona

Presenter:

Tony Chambers

The University of Iowa

A critical role for student affairs professionals in the future of higher education will be not only to manage issues of diversity on our campuses, but also to model appropriate behaviors. The need for increased awareness of diversity issues in our student affairs programs will be the primary focus of "Reflections on Diversity." The program will include an awareness exercise, discussion, and a proposed course model to be used in a student affairs program.

209 Non-traditional Students at Decentralized Locations — Innovations in Student Affairs

Friday 10:30 am-11:45 am Dupont

Carolyn R. Bair

National-Louis University

Constance Webster

National-Louis University

As colleges and universities move toward establishing multiple campuses and academic centers, the question is often asked: "Are traditional student affairs programs really necessary?" Participants will be presented with a model in which traditional student affairs functions have been redesigned to meet developmental needs of adult students in nontraditional settings. Organizational structure, needs assessment and evaluation will also be discussed.

211 Diversity Among Us: Acknowledging Women of Color

Sponsored by Women in Student Affairs Network

Friday 10:30 am-11:45 am Military

Coordinating Presenter:

Theresa Powell

Western Michigan University

Presenter:

222 Eastern Michigan University's King-Chavez-Parks College Days Program

Friday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Farragut

Lynette Findley Eastern Michigan University

The King-Chavez-Parks Programs are summer residential programs for "high-risk" students in grades 8-11. Each component of the program progressively orients students to college life, helps build self-esteem and motivation and exposes them to a variety of career options. Students are provided with an academic contract which stipulates that they must maintain at least a 2.0 grade point average (and show improvement each year) and 90% attendance in order to return each summer to the program.

223 Providing Student Services for High Ability Students at Public Institutions

Friday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Grant

Karen Aldred Card

The Ohio State University

As state institutions strive to meet the public's demand for excellence and quality, many institutions have developed honors programs. Student Affairs is asked to provide services to a increasing numbers of high ability students. Participants will examine characteristics of high ability students, how student services can be effectively provided for these students, and institutional implications of honors programs.

224 Sexual Assault Programming

Friday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Independence

Rebecca K. Carr Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville

This session will demonstrate how universities with limited financial resources for sexual assault programming can effectively heighten awareness on campuses. Approximately 3500 individuals were impacted at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville with a nominal expense to the originating units. This idea lends itself to creative alteration by any university.

225 Child Care: An Institutional Agenda for the 90s

Friday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Conservatory

Coordinating Presenter:

Brenton H. Steele

University of New Orleans

Presenter:

Jeanie Rhoades

University of New Orleans

In the next decade we can expect child care to be brought to the "front burner" in higher education, particularly with Federal and State legislation pending. This session will focus on the importance, value and obstacles to developing a comprehensive child care facility and program, and review justification for inclusion in student affairs.

226 Student Employment as Student Development: A Neglected Opportunity

Friday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Caucus

Coordinating Presenter:

Deborah J. Taub

University of Maryland at College Park

Presenter:

University of Maryland at College Park

Working one's way through college has become the rule rather than the exception. Yet, our profession has neglected the developmental potential of this significant part of students' lives. Focusing on on-campus employment, presenters will explore how to help students get the most out of this developmentally powerful experience and how to work as advocates for on-campus employment through training, support, and institutional policy.

227 Finger on the Pulse: A Divisional Research and Assessment Plan

Friday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Map

Coordinating Presenter:

Rita Moser

Florida State University

Presenters

Roberta Christie

Florida State University

This program will discuss Florida State University's plan that encourages and rewards research and assessment efforts, that provides a mechanism to make use of data in administrative decision making and a means of communicating assessment and research results throughout the university. Presenters will share the division's statement of goals, survey instruments, and report of findings.

228 Judicial Systems: From the Supreme Court to the Student Court

Friday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Monroe West

Coordinating Presenter:

Sophie Wisniewski

The College of Wooster

A discussion session designed to explore the increasing utilization of judicial systems to resolve conflicts between individuals and groups. Participants are encouraged to share educational programs or judicial system models/policies which affirm the rights and dignity of those interacting with the system while maintaining a sense of values and order for the campus, i.e., mediation programs or use of advocates in hearings.

229 An Educational Response to Hate-Related Behavior on Campus

Friday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Military

Coordinating Presenter:

Evelyn Campbell

Ohio State University

Presenter:

Merrily Dunn

Ohio State University

When a group of students engage in hate-related behavior directed towards an identifiable student or group of students, an Oppression Awareness Workshop followed by a Mediation Session between the conflicting parties can provide a developmentally and educationally sound response.

230 Reflecting Student Opinions Using Computer-Assisted Telephone Interviewing

Friday 12:00 pm-1:00 pm Hemisphere

Coordinating Presenter:

Gary D. Malaney

University of Massachusetts at Amherst

Presenters:

Julie Lam

Elizabeth A. Williams

University of Massachusetts at Amherst

The presenters will discuss Project Pulse, a weekly telephone opinion poll at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. The polling service provides weekly student feedback on any issue of concern to student affairs administrators. The entire survey process will be discussed, from the initial selection of research topics to the dissemination of information and how it is used in decision-making and planning.

Carolyn Corbett Gallaudet University

Emily Smith Rappold Gallaudet University

An exploration of the effects of perceived lower status of professional staff in Counseling Centers on work identity, self-esteem, and research productivity. Participants may better address issues of morale, staffing, and compensation schedules for student personnel workers. This relates to issues of self-esteem in Student Affairs.

234 An Experiment in Linkages: A Sister College Approach

Friday 1:45 pm-3:00 pm Chevy Chase

Coordinating Presenter:

Deborah A. Garrett Mohave Community College

Presenters:

Charles W. Hall Mohave Community College

Robert Evans Colorado Mountain College

Robert Spubler Colorado Mountain College

Two colleges with similar organizations, service areas, and programs share with the participants not only how to make successful connections between Student and Academic Services but also how to make connections between two colleges. Linkages have been established to: encourage faculty and staff exchanges; share leadership, vision, and planning; and increase services to students.

235 "1 in 10": Assisting Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Students on Campus

Friday 1:45 pm-3:00 pm Conservatory

Coordinating Presenter:

Shawn-Eric Brooks University of California at Los Angeles

How can we challenge our student and staff population to become aware of our gay, lesbian, and bisexual students? This program will provide a model for structuring effective gay awareness programs for staff and students. Examples from training programs involving fraternity and sorority leaders, residence hall staff members, minority student leaders, and campus leadership training programs will be discussed. Various experiential exercises will be introduced and evaluated, and an information packet will be distributed.

236 Assessing the Campus Environment to Respond Effectively to Activism

Friday 1:45 pm-3:00 pm Caucus

Coordinating Presenter:

William Weitzer Wesleyan University

Presenter:

James Banning Colorado State University

Our presentation examines a campus' response to student activism in three domains — setting policy, enacting procedures, and providing information. Actions in response to activism will differ on each campus due to environmental influences (external, internal, and leadership style). The presenters will describe procedures for assessing the environment for relevant information in the development of policy, procedures and educational information.

237 Sexual Behavior, Coercion and Victimization of Students: Appropriate Institution Responses

Friday 1:45 pm-3:00 pm Map

Coordinating Presenter:

Edward G. Whipple Eastern Montana College

Presenter:

John L. Baier The University of Alabama

This session will focus on a recent study of university students' past and present level of sexual activity and the degree to which they have been victims of sexual coercion and assault, both before and since entering college. Discussion will center on appropriate intervention techniques, drawn from the data, for student affairs administrators.

238 Outcome Assessment: The Relationship Between General Education and Development

Friday 1:45 pm-3:00 pm Military

Coordinating Presenter:

Donald R. Fulton Saint Louis University

Presenter:

Susan E. Spooner University of Northern Colorado

A two-year, longitudinal study using subjects experiencing their first and second years at a large, public university was conducted. Findings presented will include changes in general education outcomes, changes in developmental outcomes and the relationship between the two.

239 Behead or Befriend: Examining the Greek Coin from Both Sides

Friday 1:45 pm-3:00 pm Thoroughbred

Coordinating Presenter:

Charlotte Jacobsen Weddle Bucknell University

Presenters:

Alice Drum Franklin & Marshall College

William V. Larkin Widener University

William Thomas University of Maryland - College Park

Seasoned chief student affairs officers examine diverse institutional responses and relationships to Greek organizations and their actual and potential contribution to the social-residential community. Contrasting institutional approaches are described including total de-recognition of the Greek system, major restructuring and increased control, and Greek expansion. Panelists integrate philosophical, developmental, and educational considerations, pragmatic and legal concerns, and inherent values conflicts.

240 The Impact of Technological Change on Student Affairs

Friday 1:45 pm-3:00 pm Georgetown East

Coordinating Presenter:

Harold D. Goldsmith Old Dominion University

This program will focus on the impact of technology on higher education and student affairs. The traditional technology in higher education created the idea of "campus" and the context in which student affairs developed. The new technologies offer both opportunities and problems for the future of our profession. Scenarios will be used as a means to involve participants in the discussion.

241 Beyond "thirtysomething": Developmental issues facing mature new administrators

Friday 1:45 pm-3:00 pm Georgetown West

Coordinating Presenter:

Sherri N. Coe-Perkins State University of New York

Presenter:

Ronald R. Brown State University of New York

Being the "new kid on the block" has special meaning for new administrators who are mature and experienced in other student affairs roles. This session focuses on the unique challenges confronting these administrators and provides an "administrative empowerment" model, characterized by developmental stages, to enhance the administrative effectiveness of these administrators. Issues of race and gender are also considered.

242 New Professionals:

How Competent Do They Think They Are?

Sponsored by the New Professionals Network

Friday 1:45 pm-3:00 pm Jefferson East

Coordinating Presenter:

Barbara Jones Ball State University

Presenters:

Randy Hyman Ball State University

Kathleen Underhill Henry Mankato State University

Previous research has indicated a difference of perception concerning competence between graduate faculty and practitioners who hire and supervise recent graduates. This session will explore the perceptions of recent graduates concerning their competence as entry-level professionals in student affairs. Discussion will focus on any discrepancies between the training received in preparation programs and the expectations of the entry-level position and how supervisors of entry-level professionals may help new professionals acquire competencies on the job.

243 Customer Service: A Question of Leadership and Approach

Friday 1:45 pm-3:00 pm Jefferson West

Coordinating Presenter:

Russell B. Wright Eastern Michigan University

Presenter:

Deborah Proffitt Yost Eastern Michigan University

The concept of customer service for students is a critical approach virtually unknown or unrecognized in the field of higher education. Customer service as a focusing strategy transcends all cultural and classification boundaries and encompasses all facets of higher education's goal - to serve students both fundamentally and developmentally. The philosophy and application of customer service as it relates to higher education will be explored.

244 How Not to Write a Campus Cultural Diversity

Action Plan

Sponsored by the Network for Education, Equity and Ethnic Diversity

Friday 1:45 pm-3:00 pm Lincoln East

Coordinating Presenter:

Dean L. Bresciani

University of Arizona

Presenter:

Lois Flagstad-Kramer

University of Northern Colorado

Responding to various influences, many institutions have developed or are in the process of developing cultural diversity action plans. Disappointingly, even under the best intentioned circumstances meaningful plans seem scarce. We will challenge you to aggressively evaluate several "typical" approaches, identifying and analyzing their pitfalls. A number of provocative options will be advanced and your active participation/reactions will be encouraged.

245 The First Amendment and Public Higher Education:

A Case Study

Sponsored by the Gay, Lesbian and Bi-Sexual Concerns Network

Friday 1:45 pm-3:00 pm Lincoln West

Coordinating Presenter:

Herbert L. Lunday

Southwest Missouri State University

Presenter:

Bethany S. Oberst

Southwest Missouri State University

Southwest Missouri State University's production of The Normal Heart, Larry Kramer's play about the early years of the AIDS crisis, provoked a local state legislator to attempt to cut off funding for the institution unless the play was cancelled. Out of the conflict came valuable lessons for the students, faculty, administrators and the taxpayers themselves.

247 Are Student-Athletes Victims of Chilly Climate Issues?

Implications for Practice

Friday 1:45 pm-3:00 pm Monroe West

Coordinating Presenter:

Catherine McHugh Engstrom

Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University

Presenters:

William E. Sedlacek

University of Maryland, College Park

Javaune Adams-Gaston

University of Maryland, College Park

A review of some research studies conducted at the University of Maryland at College Park related to the experiences and expectations for student-athletes will be shared along with the implications of these findings for their academic and interpersonal success. Strategies and recommendations for training, programming, orientation, and advising offered by this campus and others to support student-athletes will also be discussed.

248 Men, Women, and Moral Development:

Accounting for our Differences

Hardee Dissertation of the Year Award

Friday 3:15 pm-4:30 pm State

Coordinating Presenter:

Debora Lynn Liddell

Auburn University

Do women and men differ in their moral voices? If so, what accounts for those differences? By integrating the theories of Kohlberg and Gilligan for the first time in a paper-and-pencil instrument, the researcher developed and validated the Measure of Moral Orientation, and examined the relationships among gender, the ethics of care and justice, self-descriptions, and preferences for thinking/feeling.

249 The New Era of Spirituality on College Campuses

Friday 3:15 pm-4:30 pm Chery Chase

Coordinating Presenter:

D'Lisa Stanley

Seattle Pacific University

Presenters:

Les Parrott

Seattle Pacific University

Leslie Parrott

Seattle Pacific University

Steve Moore

Seattle Pacific University

On college campuses the notion of spirituality has faded into the background as technology and scientific pursuit have steadily increased. The presentation will provide an unbiased environment for investigating the use and abuse of spirituality on college campuses. Through brief lecture and discussion we will explore the role of student personnel professionals in providing opportunities for students to critically analyze spiritual perspectives.

250 Reflecting Personal and Institutional Values:

Strategies for New Professionals

Sponsored by the New Professionals Network

Friday 3:15 pm-4:30 pm Thoroughbred

Coordinating Presenter:

Gardiner L. Tucker, Jr.

Plymouth State College

Presenter:

Eileen Sullivan

Babson College

The new professional is challenged by the diversity of values encountered in personal examination and institutional comparison. The development of the new professional is contingent upon negotiation between values from past experience and current career position. This workshop will provide an assessment of personal and institutional values and will lead participants to goal-setting strategies which create professional stability.

251 The UR Sextet: Addressing Issues of Sexually

Transmitted Disease

Friday 3:15 pm-4:30 pm Caucus

Coordinating Presenter:

Leonard S. Goldberg

University of Richmond

Presenters:

Warren Hopkins

University of Richmond

Beverly Buston

University of Richmond

The challenge: How to address issues of sexually transmitted disease in such a way that students adopt more responsible behavior patterns? This program describes how the University of Richmond developed a peer sexuality group which uses several vignettes to convey messages of responsible sexual behavior. A group of UR students will present the vignettes.

252 Renewal from Within: A Systematic Program for Departmental Evaluation

Friday 3:15 pm-4:30 pm Georgetown East

Coordinating Presenter:

Jeremy Stringer Seattle University

Presenters:

Diane L. Jamieson Seattle University

Erin D. Suezey Loyola College in Maryland

Sue Weitz Gonzaga University

This program will address the issue of departmental evaluation by presenting a model for systematic yet creative departmental review. Aspects covered in the program will include: how to design a department review process to help staff update programs, think creatively about their services, and establish an atmosphere supportive of innovation. Several strategies for measuring overall quality will be discussed.

253 The Art of War: Ancient Answers to Contemporary Administrative Issues

Friday 3:15 pm-4:30 pm Georgetown West

Coordinating Presenter:

Norleen K. Pomerantz Northern Kentucky University

Sun Tzu's Art of War, written 2500 years ago, offers wisdom for contemporary line administrators who deal with recalcitrant staff and compete with colleagues for limited resources. At times, work is more like war than diplomacy. Tzu's precepts will be discussed with relevant contemporary scenarios.

254 Education Model for Managing Bias Incidents in Residence Halls

Friday 3:15 pm-4:30 pm Jefferson West

Coordinating Presenter:

Stayton A. Wood Rutgers College

Presenters:

Cheryl Clarke Rutgers College

George Ganges Rutgers College

Berni Calkins Rutgers College

The session will include an overview of the University's concern for anticipating, preventing, and managing bias incidents, demonstration of the model, case presentation, and strategy-sharing among participants.

255 A Case Study for Small Colleges: Strategies for Integrated Involvement

Friday 3:15 pm-4:30 pm Jefferson East

Coordinating Presenter:

Charlotte Jacobsen Weddle Bucknell University

Presenters:

Edward Dadez Bucknell University

Kari Kuehl Bucknell University

Mary Dorsey Bucknell University

The challenge to increase student involvement is a nationwide phenomenon. Bucknell has developed supportive structures of administrative leadership, faculty involvement, student motivation, and collective goals to contribute to a healthy and involved student population. Although the developmental programs are young, some innovative strategies will be shared that have been facilitated with the cooperative efforts of all university constituencies.

256 Who Slices the Pie? Student Affairs and University Resources

Friday 3:15 pm-4:30 pm Lincoln East

Coordinating Presenter:

Kristine E. Dillon University of Southern California

Presenter:

John R. Curry University of Southern California

Complex organizations reflect their priorities through the allocation of resources. The parade of competing priorities that passes before university decision makers is one in which student affairs often feels out of step and under-rehearsed. This session will help participants examine the planning process that leads to resource allocation decisions, from both the student affairs and the university budget allocation perspectives.

257 Valuing Diversity — A Model for Staff, Faculty, and Student Training

Friday 3:15 pm-4:30 pm Monroe West

Coordinating Presenter:

M. Jean Hernandez University of Washington

Presenter:

Michele M. Hardesty University of Washington

A presentation on key elements of the creation and implementation of the University of Washington's successful diversity training program for Student Affairs staff members. Modified versions of the workshop have been presented to the president and his executive staff, students, and faculty members. Discussion will include training and utilizing staff members as facilitators, video-tape previews, evaluations, follow-up programming and future goals.

258 Leadership Scholarship: Meeting the Higher Education Challenge

Friday 3:15 pm-4:30 pm Monroe East

Coordinating Presenter:

Gail S. Rooney Briar Cliff College

Presenter:

Donna Gilligan Career Tracks, Boulder, Colorado

Leadership development is critical to the successful scholar of the 90s. Briar Cliff College has created a 4-year leadership scholarship program that is developmental and comprehensive. The program includes mentoring, career development, community service, campus involvement and training. Outcomes have included increased student participation, higher student morale, development of leadership attitudes, values and skills, and an enhanced sense of community.

259 Lenses in the Global Telescope: Thinking Skills for Cross-Cultural Understanding

Friday 3:15 pm-4:30 pm Military

Coordinating Presenter:

Jane Fried Northeastern University

Presenter:

Nancy Peterson Albion College

This session will focus on understanding the methods people use to interpret events, and develop approaches to expand their cognitive processing skills. These skills can be used to explore personal "centrisms", the unexamined paradigms which often cause people to engage in racist, sexist, homophobic, or xenophobic thinking. These skills also help people interpret events less defensively by temporarily "taking on" the other perspective.

Friday/Saturday

260 The Greek Relationship Statement: Practical Guide for Working With Greeks

Friday 3:15 pm-4:30 pm Hemisphere

Coordinating Presenter:

Carmen L. Vance The University of Connecticut

Presenter:

Judith F. Preston The University of Connecticut

The eighties saw a resurgence of interest in Greek organizations. In an effort to develop a positive Greek experience, the V.P. for Student Affairs appointed a Task Force to establish mutual expectations. The end product was the Relationship Statement between the University of Connecticut and the Greek System, which has aided in the creation of a very positive program.

261 Developing a Comprehensive Value-Added Program for an African American Community Center

Friday 3:15 pm-4:30 pm Conservatory

Coordinating Presenter:

Steven L. Johnson Garland County Community College

Presenter:

James R. Godfrey Garland County Community College

Three separate college departments teamed with a local African American community center in a mid-sized Southern city (pop. 50,000). The outreach resources of the college were developed and integrated with the community center's revitalized posture to include cultural education, preschool services, skills enhancement, and community building. Also included were opportunities for college student practicum experiences within the community center organization.

283 Para-Professional Student Staff Selection, Training, and Supervision: A Developmental Model

This session also presented Wednesday at 7:30 pm

Saturday 9:00 am-10:15 am State

Coordinating Presenter:

Pamela T. Horne

The University of Michigan

Presenter:

Barry D. MacDougall

The University of Michigan

The successful delivery of many student service programs, (e.g., orientation, residence education, and peer counseling) is dependent on high-quality, front-line para-professional student staff and supervision which insures confident, skilled, and informed staff. Beginning with the first stages of staff selection and continuing through group training, on-going individual goal setting, feedback, and supervision, the individual staff member's growth and development is the key to quality service delivery.

284 Helping Students Cope with Problem Teachers

Saturday 9:00 am-10:15 am Chevy Chase

Coordinating Presenter:

Thomas E. Wagner

University of Cincinnati

Presenters:

Katherine Uetz

University of Cincinnati

Kathleen List

University of Cincinnati

Student affairs professionals must be prepared to assist students in dealing with "problem teachers." Understanding campus culture and faculty values enables us to assist students who are experiencing difficulties with a faculty member. This session will define and describe the most common characteristics, behaviors, and defenses of problem teachers; analyze a case study; and discuss methods for dealing with problem teachers.

285 Linking Student Affairs With Academics: New

Opportunities for Student Affairs

Saturday 9:00 am-10:15 am Dupont

Coordinating Presenter:

Michele "Mitch" Kirsch

Indiana University

Presenters:

Joseph A. Pica

Andrea McAleenan

University of California at Los Angeles

Betty Glick

University of Missouri, Kansas City

Typically viewed as two separate functions within higher education, academic and student affairs often operate independently. The creation of student affairs positions within academic units provides a unique opportunity to bridge the gap between student affairs and academics. This presentation will discuss the partnership which has developed between student affairs professionals and academicians creating exciting career opportunities in higher education.

Saturday 9:00 am-10:15 am Farragut

Coordinating Presenter:

Donna Swartwout

University of Maryland

Presenters:

Cynthia Hoover

University of Maryland

Lisa Heiser

University of Maryland

Change is an inevitable and ongoing process in our professional and personal lives and those of our students, and Student Affairs is a highly transitory profession. Yet, we are often unaware of the effects of transitions and inadequately prepared to effectively cope. Participants will have the opportunity to explore the value of developing a greater awareness of transitions, their effects, and strategies for managing them. The program will be particularly useful to the new professional and others facing recent or upcoming transitions.

300 "Hate Speech"/Free Speech: Creating Open and Just Campus Communities

Saturday 9:00 am-10:15 am Military

Coordinating Presenter:

Michael T. Boyd University of Virginia

Presenter:

Tom Jennings University of Virginia

Several institutions have recently enacted anti-harassment policies to protect minority members from offensive behavior, sometimes known as "hate speech." In several cases, these policies have been challenged as unduly restricting academic freedom and/or First Amendment rights. Participants will discuss relevant case law, sample institutional policies, and alternative approaches to addressing "hate speech" on college campuses.

301 Partnerships: Reflections on Mutuality Between Women and Men

Saturday 9:00 am-10:15 am Hemisphere

Coordinating Presenter:

Michael Burchell Colorado State University

Presenter:

Carol Schmitz University of Southern California

"Partnership is an experience of inner-connection brought about by a consistent commitment to the demanding, painful and sometimes messy work of human relating." This program will explore the need for mutuality in relationships, particularly critical in an age when old paradigms are no longer effective and new approaches to inner-relating are essential. We must understand models of partnership to prepare for organizations which are becoming more participatory and less hierarchical.

302 Leadership and Gender: Reflections on the Past, Vision for the Future

Saturday 9:00 am-10:15 am Thorougbbred

Coordinating Presenter:

Timothy R. McMahon The University of Iowa

Presenters:

Cynthia Cherrey University of Southern California

Kathleen Allen Mount Saint Mary's College-Los Angeles

Barbara Panzl Whitman College

The topic of leadership has received a phenomenal amount of attention from the national media and within student affairs in recent years. The way in which we view leadership is changing dramatically. In many organizations, networks, empowerment, and cooperation are replacing the traditional organizational foundations of hierarchy, autocracy, and competition. This session will explore this changing nature of leadership and its relationship to issues of gender.

303 Enrollment Management Interest Group

Saturday 9:00 am-10:15 am Hamilton
